The Galway Public Library's first StoryFest, held August 9 at the Town Pavilion, was a great success, with 58 in attendance who enjoyed animal tales about crows, cats, chickens, dogs, and horses, from a full lineup of local storytellers. Congratulations to Dusty Rhodes who received the People's Choice trophy for his story about Jim the Crow. All storytellers received a voucher for a free book at the library's book sale. There was free popcorn, drinks and cookies for all. Joseph Bruchac, nationally known author and storyteller, was the host and started the event off with a story of his own. Have any ideas for the theme of the next StoryFest? Let the Galway Public Library know!
